Wild Talk of Gresham for Secretary of State -Cleveland Says He Really Must Have Time to Think-Kansas Populist Scheme.

AT THE "LITTLE WHITE HOUSE." Grover Announces He Will Be Back in His Office This Week,

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Jan. 29.-Chairman William F. Harrity, of the Democratic national committee, and Attorney-general William W. Hensel, of Pennsylvania, spent the greater part of the day with Mr. Cleveland at the "Little White House." Both men refused to be interviewed as to their talk with the Presidentelect, Mr. Harrity saying that his visit here was purely a social one and that it had been planned two weeks ago. Mr. Harrity said that he did not come here to ask federal patronage from Mr. Cleveland for Pennsylvania, nor was he a candidate for a Cabinet position.

It was learned to-day that thus far Mr. Cleveland had filled only two positions in his Cabinet with any certainty. They were Mr. Carlisle for the Treasury and Mr. Lamont for the Navy. It was understood here last week that Mr. Bayard had accepted the State portfolio, but now it seems that the report was premature. From one who is in very close touch with Mr. Cleveland it was learned that the President-elect would, in all probability, select his former law partner, Mr. Wilson S. Bissell, of Buffalo, for the Attorney-generalship. Among others who, it is said, are being considered for Cabinet positions by Mr. Cleveland are Governor Gray of Indiana; Senator Morgan, of Ala-Gray, of Indiana; Senator Morgan, of Alabama; Governor Russell, of Massachusetts; Hoke Smith, of Georgia; Patrick Cellins, of Massachusetts, and Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan. Mr. Harrity and Mr. Hensel will return to Philadelphia to-morrow, and

Mr. Cleveland will go to New York. In an interview Mr. Cleveland said: "The date is now at hand when I must have more time to myself than I have had since the election. Thus far the most of my time has been devoted to interviews which have been by no means unpleasant nor unprofitable, but other things are now pressing upon me which require my unin-terrupted consideration. I wish, therefore, you would say for me through the press that I shall be at my office in New York every day, with perhaps one excep-tion, during the week commencing with Jan. 30, and that after Feb. 4. I shall remain at Lakewood, where I hope to be undisturbed in the work which will imperatively demand my attention. I also especially desire it to be understood that from now until March 4 letters should be addressed to me at the Mills building, New

Gresham's Reward. CINCINNATI, Jan. 29.-A special dispatch to the Enquirer, from Chicago, says:

"It is settled almost beyond the shadow of a doubt that Judge W. Q. Gresham will be Secretary of State in President Cleveland's Cabinet. For several days past the Enquirer, in its New York dispatches, has stated that negotiations have been pend-ing between President-elect Cleveland and Judge Gresham. These negotiations have been going on for over a week. They were concluded yesterday. Judge Gresham has decided to accept the premiership. The fact is known to only a few of the very intimate friends of the distinguished jurist. It is understood that there was some opposition to Judge Gresham from the old-line Democrats, who do not believe that he has been a member of the party long enough to be intrusted with such an important position. Mr. Cleveland, however, has steadily refused to seriously consider the objections urged against his favorite. He has argued that the conversion of Judge Gresham to the tariff reform principles of the Democratic party and his support of the national ticket contributed more than any one cause to its success. Jedge Gresham, with his usual reticence, refuses to confirm or deny the report that he will be a member of the Cabinet. The Judge will hold another conference with Mr. Cleveland within the next two weeks."

A dispatch from Chicago says: Judge Walter Q. Gresham will say nothing as to whether or not he will be a member of President Cleveland's Cabinet, but he is constantly holding conferences with Democrats who stand close to the President-Saturday he was for three closeted with Henry Watterson, neither man would say a of the subject - matter under word discussion. This morning Judge Gresham was locked up for several hours with J. W. Doane, who is an intimate friend of President-elect Cleveland, and who has just returned from a visit to Lakewood. This siternoon the conference was with Judge William G. Ewing, a cousin of Adlai Stevenson. None of the parties to these conferences will affirm or deny that they were held in reference to a Cabinet position.

MAY BE A NICE FIGHT,

Kansas Populists Have Designs on Shutting Republicans Out of the House. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 29.—There is considerable talk to-night about the Populists taking possession of Representative half Monday, at 2 o'clock, and preventing the Republicans from entering at 4 o'clock, the hour to which the Republican House adjourned. The Populists took a recess till 2 P. M. Monday, and the threat has been made that the Populists will secure possession of the hall at that hour and camp there and not allow the Republicans to enter unless they agree to surrender and recognize Dunamore as Speaker. The Populists will. of course, have their officers in charge of the doors and it is well known that there is quite an element in the Populist House ready to try this scheme. Several Populists were questioned about the matter to-night. but would say nothing. Speaker Duns-more said to-day that the Populists had not played their best cards yet and that when they did the Republican obstructionists should stand from under. Should an attempt to keep out the Republicans be made trouble will follow and there is no telling where at will end. Republican members went home yesterday and cannot get here till Monday afternoon.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 29.—The Republicans have just learned that they elected a United States Senator in the joint session of the two houses last Wednesday. They claim that none of the members the Populist House were legalsworn in, and consequently had no right to vote for Senator; so that the State Senators, including the Populist members of that body, together with the members of the Republican House, constituted a quorum of votes, or a majority of the quorum, and that their candidate was, therefore, elect-ed Senator. Mr. Addy will be furnished credentiale signed by Speaker Douglass, of the Republican House, and by each of the Republican Senators, and will proceed at once to Washington to claim the seat now occupied by Senator Perkins, and to which the Populista claim to have elected Judge John Martin. The Republicans expect that the United States Senate, having a Republican majority, will give

TYPHUS IN BELLEVUE.

One Death and Twenty-Six Suspected Cases Already Discovered in the Hospital.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.-Typhus fever has appeared at Believue Hospital, and the property has been placed under quarantine. One of the employes of the institution has already died of the malady, and to-day there are reported to be twenny-six suspected cases of the fever within the walls. The following additional cases were reported today by the Board of Health: William Long, an orderly in the reception hospital; Joseph Kreis, from 112 Bowery; William Flynn, a tramp lodger in the East Twentysecond-street police station; Henry Weiss, an inmate of the newsboys' lodging-house; John Boherty, from a Bowery lodginghouse; George R. Graham, Henry Weiner and Robert Spence, all from the work-house on Blackwell's island. The fact that the employes mingled freely with the nurses and the 1,200 patients there makes the situation one of extraor-dinary gravity. Already there are twenty-one suspected cases on the hospital grounds. It is impossible to tell how many of the nurses of patients have been infected by contact with the stricken employes before it was known that they had typhus. It is also impossible to say how widely the contagion may have been spread through the wards by the twentyone suspects, should it develop they have

BLAINE'S TACT AND KINDNESS.

Instances in Which These Qualities Saved Other People Serious Humiliation.

Columns of incidents might be written regarding Mr. Blaine's generosity to those to whom he was politically opposed and who were wont to assail him. Two such incidents are recalled.

The first term that he was Speaker of the House a Democratic member, who was, subsequently, a most prominent and useful member, occasionally appeared bearing evidence of heavy drinking and under such conditions was wont to make a spectacle of himself. Just before the House was called to order one morning, word was brought to Speaker Blaine in his room, that the member had arrived dressed in an enormous fur coat and cap, and was on the floor. Mr. Blaine did not stop, but reached the floor by the most unobserved route, took the member by the arm and led him to the Speaker's room, in which he locked him until he could further look after him, which he did, never mentioning

A brilliant young Democrat in Maine and a bright young Democratic editor, both belonging to good families, but noted for their abuse of Mr. Blaine, were visiting Augusta, and after seeing their friends got a carriage in the evening to ride about the town. Both were in a condition which was evidence that in the prohibition State of Maine prohibition does not always prohibit. By some means their horse became unmanagable, and both were thrown ou near Mr. Blaine's house, and considerably bruised. The windows in Mr. Blaine's house being open, the family heard the noise, and he, with others, rushed out to afford relief. One was considerably stunned by the fall. Mr. Blaine had both men taken into his house, attended bimself to their bruises, and when they were fully restored sent them to the hotel in his carriage. It would have been a dreadful mortification to them and their friends to have had all the facts put into the papers, and they expected, and as one of them said in later years, "we deserved it." But never a word appeared. The only daily paper in the town was controlled by his friends, and the first thing he did was to prevent any reference to the affair, and i would never have been known, except to themselves and Mr. Blaine's family, had not one of them told of it, a year after when he said that "the meanest moment in his life was when he realized that he was in Blaine's house, and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine were administering restoratives. No mai could have been more gracious," he wen on to say, "for, when I felt better, he en tertained me and my friend an hour with his charming talk, and never referred to the accident as other than the carelessnes of a livery man in giving us an unbroker horse. He heaped a cart-load of burning coals on our heads, for he knew that both of us had abused him to the best of ou ability."

of Democratic Majorities. Little discussion is heard among members of the Legislature about the hotels on any other subject than the apportionment ince the final decision of the Supreme Court on Friday. The Demograts have not yet begun to hew out a new gerrymander, nor have the Republicans, but Senator Wishard has considerable data, accumulated when he was helping to get up the papers in the original suit, and he will probably prepare a bill to be presented to the Republican caucus.

Chairman Ader, of the House apportionment committee, said to a Journal reporter on Friday that the Democrats would probably bring in a bill figured out on the basis of a Democratic majority of eight in the House and four or five in the Senate. Taking the Democrats at their word, Hon. A. M. Kennedy, of Rushville, has figured out an apportionment which gives them eight majority in the House and two in the Sen-

ROBY RACE-TRACK SCANDAL

Why the Grand Jury and Sheriff of Lake

County Have Done Nothing. A special to the Journal from Hammond says that the better class of citizens of Lake county are heartily in favor of an investigation by the Legislature of the Roby race-track, and hope that something will be done toward wiping the association ont of existence. That the laws of Indiana are being broken every day no one can deny. It is true that the grand jury which met in November, by the instructions of Judge Gillett, made, or, rather, attempted to make, an investigation. No witnesses were called to Crown Point to give evidence, but, instead, the jury decided to make a personal examination. Aday was set to attend the races and when the jury the track ready to receive them with worsted.

open arms. The consequence was no bill was found and no report made to the judge. Sheriff Friedrich has a force of eleputies on the ground to enforce the law and preserve order, and they do it so well that about a month ago the association made Mr. Friedrich a present of a handsome gold star, with a diamond setting, valued at $350, and to each deputy was given a silver badge.

Special trains are run over the Fort Wayne road hourly during the day, bringing thousands of gamblers from Chicago to the races. Many of these are clerks in stores and offices, who not only lose their own money, but occasionally that of their employers. Should the present Legisla-ture pass laws that will effectually break no this organization, it will be most heartily indorsed by the good people of Lake

PRISON NORTH COMMITTEE,

Investigation Prepared for with a Lot of Budweiser and McBrayer Whisky. Messrs. Harkins, Baugher, Smith, Cullop, Deery, Erwin, Hesler, McCorkle and Bryant, composing the House committee on the Prison North, accompanied by the usual number of door-keepers and other hangers-on, returned from Michigan City at 3:45 this morning. The Democratic majority of the committee went in a pleased frame of mind, had it kept up while they were there and returned with it in the same frame. The directors and officials of the prison had ample notice of the committee's arrival, and as a consequence had the penitentiary in the best possible condition. At least the majority of the committee will have no adverse report to make.

The committee traveled in state, and in the lockers of their car, when they started. were stored away forty quarts of Bud-weiser, thirty pints of McBrayer whisky and ten boxes of cigars.

Against the Liquor League's Bill. Twenty of the most reputable physicians of Columbus join in a communication to the Journal in which they say: "As physicians, we earnestly protest against House Bill No. 191, originated and urged by the Saloon-keepers' Association as seeking to discriminate against and degrade the conscientions, honest druggist, pharmacist and physician, and striking down the ored rights of every family in the hour of disease and distress. The measure is plainly unjust, oppressive and vicious, giving the saloon a monopoly in the sale of liquors for all purposes, when, as medicine, their sale should properly remain under the control of physicians and druggists."

NEW STREET-CAR CHARTER

City Authorities Ready to Deal with the Citizens' Company at Any Time.

Mr. Defrees Outlines the Requirements the Board of Public Works Will Insist Upon in Granting a New Franchise.

The question of a new charter for the Citizens' Street-railroad Company is one that is already much discussed, since Mr. Mason stated publicly, a week or more ago. that the new purchasers of the lines would ask for a renewal of the franchise early in the spring, and said that, this question once determined, the company would immediately proceed to equip all the lines with electricity, and not leave an inch of mule line by autumn.

The franchise, if one is given, must be in the form of a contract between the company and Board of Public Works, which contract must be ratified by ordinance of the City Council and the ordinance approved by the Mayor before it can become valid. The members of the board, the Mayor and leaders of the Council have discussed the matter much of late and their ideas upon a franchise are pretty well crystallized.

'We are ready to dicker with the Citizens' company whenever they come to us," said Mr. Defrees, of the board. in answer to the question of a Journal reporter. "It is a matter that might well be put out of the way early, in order that the city may have the better street-car facilities its growth demands." "The board, then, is ready to renew its

"Oh, no. Not by several miles. The charter it has will never be renewed. I don't imagine the company will ask for any such thing. We are willing to give them new franchises, but they will never again have a monopoly on all the streets. They can elect what streets they will use, and a separate contract will be entered into for each line. They can take what streets they have and others too, if they want to extend, but if they want any more after that they will have to come and ask for them, standing upon the same footing as any competing company." "Their franchise contracts would be as that granted . the 'original' Broad Ripple a year or two ago?" "Well, partly yes and partly no. They would have to pave that portion of the streets occupied by their tracks and six inches on either side of the outer rails, and their equipment and schedules would have to be more or less subject to supervision by the board, which would give us the right to insist upon all improvements in street-car operation, such as the storagebattery system, when it it perfected, being adopted by the company."

'How about the tax on gross receipts?" "I'm inclined to the belief that we shall adopt a different idea on that question. It doesn't seem just that the street-car patrons should pay a portion of the city's general taxes greater than that borne by other tax-payers. It is possible that this tax may be omitted, and instead a clause be placed in the contract providing for reduction of fares, thus giving patrons of the service the benefit. It's true that the company uses public streets, but in return for that the public in general and property-owners along these streets in particular get a large "Will you provide for the retention of the present transfer system, or one equally "I hardly think so. There is, you know, ne provision in the present charter for the transfer system. It is voluntary on the part of the company, and, of course, if the company did not find it to its advantage it would not continue it. It is probable that it will continue it, anyhow, but if we get reduced fares I don't think we shall insist on a transfer system. If they have cheap fares for short rides, they might afford to pay more for long ones. "What do you think of the suggestion of

'free tracks' in the business center of the "It is a good one and will probably be adopted. Unless the tracks on certain streets are free to all companies that may have lines in the city, one company might as well have a monopoly. The company that has exclusive right to Illinois street, from Ohio to the depot; Washington, from Illinois to Pennsylvania, and Pennsylvania, from Washington to Ohio, has the key to the street-car business of the city. The matter of wheelage could be readily arranged; it is done by railroad companies every day of the year. If the companies could not agree it could be done by the usual method of arbitration." Stole the Cash Register. Between 7 and 8 o'clock yesterday morning officer Raferty, of the Union Station force, found a nickel-plated cash register in the yard in the rear of the Catholic school on West Georgia street. The machine was identified as the property of one Lenihan, proprietor of the saloon at the corner of Illinois and Georgia streets, from which place it had evidently been stolen during the night. Mr. Lenthan says there was $6 in the machine when he left the night before, and there was $5.58 in it when found. The thieves had broken the bottom in an effort to get to the money, but only succeeded in extracting a small amount of

"SPIRITS" MUCH DISTURBED

Considerable Excitement at Annie Eva Fay's Alleged Spiritualistic Seance.

Dr. Van Vorhis Was Too Particular on the Inspection Committee and Was Asked to Retire-Hisses from the Crowd.

Miss Annie Eva Fay, spiritualist and theosophist, performed many gauzy little tricks at the Grand Opera-house last night. The theater was packed to suffocation by a good-natured crowd that tolerated the gentle Annie's feats of alleged occult science in the mildest spirit of fun until the entertainment reached that point where forbearance ceased. Then the deadly hiss reigned. Miss Fay, an extremely blonde type of woman, attired in a stunning costume, not at all indicative of the spiritualistic robe, entertained her audience with mysterious rappings, carried ponderous tables in the palms of her shapely hands, and succeeded in working her force of "spirits" up to the point where the banjo, guitar and mandolin discoursed sweet strains with the utmost ease. The young lady tied big, strong men to her "cabinet," and liberated them after a style that was simply prodigious in its wonderment.

Miss Fay as a performer was clever, as a medium she was bad. She was assisted in her peculiar "manifestations" by her manager, a smooth gentleman in a dress suit and big diamond, who insisted on arguing the case with the audience, and thereby invoked disaster. During one of the star tricksthat of pinning a man to the cabinet and unloosing him in full view-Dr. F. J. Van Vorhis, the attorney, was called upon the stage to witness the mystery. At the con-clusion of the act Dr. Van Vorhis quietly intimated that the entire performance could be explained from a physical stand-point. This assertion on that gentleman's part aroused the curiosty of the audience, and it was asked that he be allowed to state his views from the stage. or. Van Vornie was willing to speak, but the manager was not, and when he stepped to the foot-lights and coolly stated that he didn't "believe Dr. Van Vorhis would give an honest opinion if he could" there was trouble. A hiss, loud and long, pervaded the house, broken at intervals by howls of derision. One man called ont: "Ah, you've got lots to learn yet," and another suggested that the manager "pull down his yest." The manager apologized to the crowd, which ventured another hiss, and Miss Fay, much disturbed by the demonstration, concluded the programme with a series of table rappings that were pro-nounced genuine by the "committee." Among the tricks or "workings of spiras is advertised that Eva

Fay performs in her entertainments are several that are executed in a cabinet. To the uninitiated they truly look like the supernatural, but when their processes are known become simple enough. George Ohnstein is authority for the following revelation of them. Mr. Ohnstein is, him-self, a man of circumstances, and of wide and varied experience. He has long been known as a maker of imitation diamonds, which he sells at remarkably low figures, and generally manages, in the different places he locates, to get embroiled with the local, police force, from the fact that they judge him at once to be an impostor, an allega-tion, however, which they have never been able to sustain. Perhaps the greatest "coup d'etat" that he ever executed was when, several years ago; finding himself "dead broke" in St. Louis, he bribed a baggagemaster with a couple of his diamonds to put him in a trunk and bring him through to Indianapolis. One of the medium's tricks is to have her hands tied behind her by a committee selected from the audience with cords extended to either side and fastened taut to the posts of the cabinet. The knots in the cords are sealed, and while in this supposedly helpless condition the audience hears from the inclosed canopy the playing of a tambourine, and when she again is exposed to view it is found that she has drunk a glass of water and done other impossible feats-impossible if her hands were tied, and the committee reports finding them just as they had left them. The madam gets over the difficulty very easily. A sharp knife is concealed under the rear flap of her waist with which she severs the "cords that bind," and performs her tasks. She then slips them back in position, tightly presses the several ends between her palms, and the committee never thinks of pulling those hands apart. At another time she is inclosed in the cabinet, with a hand thrust through an aperture on either side, in plain view of those before her. Again the tinkling of the tamborine is heard, and a shower of flowers arises from the inclosure. She accomplishes this with the aid of a small and exceedingly precocious three-year-old child, which she conceals under her dress when the com-

The table-raising is done by means of a sharp. large-headed pin which she conceals in her hand and drives into the wood when she places her hands on it. It has clinging power sufficient to raise the light table used. The wooden hand which raps in answer to questions is operated by a black thread, and so they all go.

THE ICE HARVEST IS OVER.

Biggest Crop Ever Known in Indianapolis Has Been Gathered This Season.

The ice men on Saturday night paid off their men and consider the ice harvest of the season over. For five weeks the several companies have given employment to seven hundred men and four weeks of the time to one hundred or more teams. More ice has been housed than ever before in Indianapolis. W. S. Budd has stored in his five houses 8,000 tons; Garver, in his six houses. 12,000 tons; Caylor & Jordan, in their ten houses, 14,000 tons; the Indianapolis company, in its twelve houses, 20,000 tons, and the Indianapolis Brewing Company has put in its cellars and houses 10,000 tons. The ice first put up was about eight inches thick, but that housed in the last three weeks was from eighteen to twenty inches in thickness, and is said to be of the best quality ever put up in the Indianapolis houses. The ice men say that prices will range about as last year, but the quality of ice delivered will be far superior. The large ice crop has been of benefit to the farmers, as it has enabled them to dispose of one hundred or more tens of straw at $3
